

Azulejo rosé

An excellent example of the fantastic progress which has been made in Portuguese winemaking in recent years, Azulejo is the distinctive Portuguese white and blue tile shown on the label. Made in the Lisbon area from Camarate and Cabernet Sauvignon grapes, the wine has a beautiful pink colour and predominant red fruit aromas.

It's medium bodied, and has excellent minerality and acidity. A long way from the over sweet blush wines that give rosé a bad name! The wine is both vegetarian and vegan.

Serve as an appetiser or with salads, seafood, grilled foods, or oriental spicy dishes
