

Domaine Girard “La Garriguette” rosé 2014

Not far from the historic city of Carcassonne, the region of Malepère has had a VDQS classification for many years but the consistent high quality of the wines resulted in its elevation to full appellation status just two years ago.

Domaine Girard has been passionate about their grape growing and wines for five generations. Located in the village of Alaigne in the southwestern corner of the Languedoc, the Girards respectfully take advantage of their vineyards by farming the land along sustainable practices. The higher elevation vineyards help to maintain a signature freshness and elegance throughout the range of wines. Domaine Girard produces wines that represent both great value and cool climate character. As such, they make ideal partners to many different types of food and fun!

Their land totals 25 hectares of estate owned vineyards located on the south side of the Massif de la Malepère of the Languedoc at an altitude of between 220-350 metres. They grow Merlot, Cabernet Sauvignon, Cabernet Franc, Côt (Malbec), Pinot Noir and Chardonnay.

Made from 100% Cabernet Franc, this delicately pink-tinged Rosé has inviting sweetshop aromas, which lead into a lovely mouthful of cassis and raspberry fruit. There is refreshing acidity and a gentle aromatic twist at the finish.
